

INTERNATIONAL INSTITUTE of ORTHOTICS & PROSTHETICS

REQUIRES

MASTERS

in Orthotic and Prosthetics

The International Institute of Orthotics and Prosthetics seeks a full-time faculty member with strong knowledge and experience in both the orthotic and prosthetic disciplines. We seek a candidate who will have the primary role of delivering instruction within the classroom and laboratory setting. The candidate will additionally share roles with other employees during future projects, as they become available. Such projects are expected to include community outreach programs/workshops, orthotic and prosthetic research studies (both in house and with participating collaborative entities), foreign development of better O&P practices, etc. Applicants must have a sincere commitment to teaching and be willing to engage in substantive interdisciplinary collaboration regarding education and research. Applicants must be eligible for licensure in both the Orthotic and Prosthetic disciplines as well as hold a Master's degree or higher in a healthcare or education related field.

The International Institute of Orthotics and Prosthetics is located in Tampa, Florida, which houses lush parks and green spaces, competitive schools and numerous amenities for entertainment, sports and recreation.

For consideration, applications are due by December 1, 2018. The application material must include a full academic CV as well as a personal narrative on teaching and research. All application materials need be emailed to arlene@iiofoandp.org. The International Institute of Orthotics and Prosthetics is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

